FROM THE EDITOR

Fish oil is no snake oil 174

That cod-liver oil I took as a child, though foul tasting, may have been good for my heart.

J.D. CLOUGH

1-MINUTE CONSULT

When and how is it appropriate to terminate the physician-patient relationship? 179

This should be a last resort, done only in extreme cases, and only after trying to work things out, giving fair warning, and making sure you are not abandoning the patient.

C. SANTALUCIA AND F.A. MICHOTA JR.

REVIEW

Spondyloarthropathies: Using presentation to make the diagnosis 184

Spondylitis is easy to miss and is often falsely assumed to be "just back pain." Inhibitors of tumor necrosis factor show promise as treatments, but data are still limited.

S. KIRATISEAVEE AND L.H. BRENT

REVIEW

Fish oil supplementation: Evidence for health benefits 208

We have solid and compelling evidence that two long-chain omega-3 fatty acids help prevent coronary heart disease.

W.S. HARRIS

POEMs

New series: Keeping up with clinical research that can change your practice 222

Beginning with this issue, the Journal will include brief summaries of important new clinical research.

B.F. MANDELL

- Four drugs for 1 day eliminates *H pylori 223
- Azelaic acid more effective than metronidazole for acne rosacea 224

REVIEW

Hearing loss is often undiscovered, but screening is easy 225

Does your patient need a hearing aid? Primary care physicians—the gatekeepers of audiologic care—can play a more active role in improving the hearing of their adult patients.

C.W. NEWMAN AND S.A. SANDRIDGE

REVIEW

Fitz-Hugh-Curtis syndrome: A diagnosis to consider in women with right upper quadrant pain 233

Fitz-Hugh-Curtis syndrome can mimic many other common disorders, such as cholecystitis and pyelonephritis.

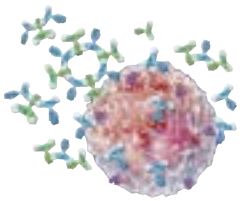
REVIEW

What physicians can do to prevent suicide 242

No one can predict whether any given patient will or will not attempt suicide, but we should notice when a patient might be at risk—and not be afraid to ask about it.

D.J. MUZINA

REVIEW



Omalizumab: Where does it fit into current asthma management? 251

This drug offers substantial promise, but owing to its cost and other limitations, it is not a first-line therapy.
