Table of Contents

From the Editor .................................................................................................................. 90
Talking to patients: Barriers to overcome
Not all patients think like doctors, but we need to be able to think like patients.
B.F. Mandell

Review .................................................................................................................................. 92
Posttraumatic stress disorder, depression, and suicide in veterans
In military veterans, depression, posttraumatic stress disorder, and suicidal thoughts are common and closely linked.
L. Sher, M.D. Braquehais, and M. Casas

The Clinical Picture ............................................................................................................. 102
A 48-year-old woman with an ecchymotic rash
Her test results satisfied the criteria for a lupus anticoagulant. What is the most likely diagnosis?
S. Chatterjee and R.J. Tuthill

The Clinical Picture ............................................................................................................. 110
Chest pain followed by sudden collapse
A 51-year-old man, resuscitated from ventricular fibrillation, has ST elevation in leads V1 and V2. What is the likely cause?
H.R. Omar

Medical Grand Rounds ....................................................................................................... 113
Deep brain stimulation: What can patients expect from it?
Its indications (particularly movement disorders), risks, and benefits, and what is involved before, during, and after implantation.
A. Machado, H.H. Fernandez, and M. DeogaoNkar

CONTINUED ON PAGE 87