Table of Contents

FROM THE EDITOR

Heightening awareness of blistering disorders 308
The spectrum of associated disorders ranges from annoying to life-threatening.
Brian F. Mandell, MD, PhD

THE CLINICAL PICTURE

Evolving distal signs 310
The patient’s evolving signs and symptoms prompted a reconsideration of his diagnosis.
Zackary D. Goff, MD; Sandra E. Zaeh, MD, MS; Michael K. Poku, MD; John N. Aucott, MD; Allan C. Gelber, MD

EDITORIAL

Famous and not-so-famous physical findings in infectious endocarditis: A look back 316
It is difficult to find a disease more emblematic of the practice of internal medicine.
Adam J. Brown, MD

SYMPTOMS TO DIAGNOSIS

New bullous lesions in a 72-year-old woman 319
Her history included psoriasis, chronic lower-extremity edema, and hypertension.
Hadrian Mendoza, MD; Justin Goodwin, MS; Jeffrey Gehlhausen, MD; Ian Odell, MD, PhD; Jennifer McNiff, MD; Karthik Gnanapandithan, MD

REVIEW

Dual antiplatelet therapy after percutaneous coronary intervention: Personalize the duration 325
A review of current guidelines on the duration of therapy and perioperative management.
Travis M. Howard, MD; Umesh N. Khot, MD

---

Upcoming Features

- Asthma management: The GINA report
- Exercise in older women
- Tobacco cessation: Current management options
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 306

REVIEW ...................................................................................................................................... .

Medical complications of bulimia nervosa  333
Complications can affect all body systems, but especially the renal and electrolyte systems.

Allison Nitsch, MD; Heather Dlugosz, MD; Dennis Gibson, MD; Philip S. Mehler, MD, FACP, FAED

REVIEW ...................................................................................................................................... .

Point-of-care ultrasonography for the hospitalist  345
POCUS has emerged as a vital tool in various disciplines of medicine.

Guramrinder Singh Thind, MD; Steven Fox, MD; Mohit Gupta, MD; Praveen Chahar, MD; Robert Jones, DO, FACEP; Siddharth Dugar, MD

DEPARTMENTS .........................................................................................................................

CME Calendar  312
CME/MOC Instructions  360